Lifesavers GALA

10.24.26

*Good evening, and welcome to the 2026 Lifesavers Gala! We are delighted to have you join us for an evening of celebration, generosity, and a little autumn elegance. While tonight may be filled with a touch of grandeur, the reason we gather is quite simple: to save lives.

For more than 50 years, Medic One Foundation has helped advance pre-hospital emergency care throughout our region. From supporting one of the nation's most respected paramedic training programs to equipping first responders with lifesaving tools, funding innovative research, expanding access to AEDs, and teaching CPR to the next generation, our work helps ensure that exceptional emergency care is available when every second counts.

None of this happens without you. As a privately funded nonprofit, we rely on the generosity of individuals, businesses, and foundations who share our belief that everyone deserves the best possible chance of survival in a medical emergency.

Tonight, we celebrate the extraordinary people who answer the call, the lives they save, and the community that makes it all possible. So enjoy the festivities, embrace the spirit of the evening, and know that your generosity tonight will make a difference long after the autumn moon has set.

Paramedic Training Classes 54 & 55

Thirty-four students representing 11 emergency service providers across our region are enrolled in the Medic One Paramedic Training Program this fall.

Class 55 is a traditional 10-month program, providing almost 2,000 hours through classroom learning, hospital clinical rotations, and extensive field experience on Seattle Medic One paramedic units. Each student averages over 500 patient contacts—three times the national average—and collectively the class performs more than 10,000 IVs and 1,000 intubations, mastering complex lifesaving procedures. They also collectively participate in treating more than 300 cardiac arrest victims, gaining real-world, high-stakes experience.

Class 54 is a five-month program designed for experienced paramedics who have already completed formal training elsewhere and are joining the King County EMS system. This course focuses on advanced clinical instruction, regional medical protocols, and the high-performance standards that define Medic One paramedics.

As a result of this intensive and immersive training, regional Medic One paramedics consistently achieve survival rates for sudden cardiac arrest that are double those of most major cities nationwide.

Two Lives. Two Stories. One Lifesaving System.

Neither Riley nor Amanda expected their lives to depend on a 911 call.

Both experienced a pulmonary embolism—a life-threatening condition caused by a blood clot blocking blood flow to the lungs. It's an emergency that can be difficult to recognize, and every minute matters.

For Riley and Amanda, the highly trained paramedics who responded brought more than emergency transportation. They brought the knowledge, experience, and clinical judgment to recognize a life-threatening situation and provide critical care before reaching the hospital.

Their stories are different, but they share something extraordinary: a second chance at life.

Tonight, you'll hear their stories, meet some of the people who helped save them, and see firsthand why Medic One Foundation's investment in exceptional paramedic training matters.

Because behind every life saved is a system built to be ready.

Riley Mueller, Dr. John Scott, and Amanda Simantov

Raise the Paddle

Tonight, our goal is to raise $1.7 million to train 34 new paramedic students and provide continuing education for 250+ active paramedics.

In Memoriam

Dr. Werner Samson

Werner Samson, MD was a Medic One Foundation founding board member, a longtime Foundation leader, and a cherished friend whose influence helped shape emergency medical care throughout our region.

For more than three decades, Werner served on the Medic One Foundation Board of Directors. He was the last surviving member of the Foundation's original board. His wisdom, guidance, and commitment to our mission helped establish the Foundation's culture and laid the groundwork for generations of lifesaving work.

Werner played a significant role in Medic One's early development. A respected cardiologist and faculty member at the University of Washington, he worked alongside Dr. Leonard Cobb and other pioneering leaders during the formative years of Seattle's EMS system. He helped train some of the region's first paramedics and was instrumental in the creation of Seattle's groundbreaking community CPR program. We are profoundly grateful for Dr. Werner Samson's friendship, leadership, and lifelong dedication to improving emergency medical care.

Dr. Samson passed away on May 4, 2026, just one day shy of his 98th birthday.

James "Jim" Pierce

Jim was a giant among giants in our EMS community. He impacted not only the world of advanced life support but also educated literally thousands of EMTs throughout King County and beyond.

Jim served as a King County Paramedic for 22 years, ran the Skykomish Volunteer Paramedic program for 26 years, and after his "retirement" served as the Director of Education for Paramedics and EMTs at Central Washington University. Jim left a lasting mark on so many who knew him as a compassionate paramedic and thoughtful instructor and mentor.

Jim passed away in September. His family invites you to his Celebration of Life at the Everett Elks on November 7, 1:00-4:00 PM.

We extend our deepest gratitude to all members of the Medic One and EMS community, as well as the generous donors and supporters we've lost this year. Each played a meaningful role in strengthening our mission and the system we rely on today. Their dedication, compassion, and generosity continue to inspire us and live on through every life saved. If we have missed someone, we sincerely apologize and honor them in spirit for the impact they made in helping others.
